

CHRIST AND THE EPIPHANY

VOLUME 22

JANUARY 2018

MISSIONAL PRIEST

Father Charles Kamano

Dear Christ and The Epiphany family and friends,

The period from Thanksgiving to New Year's Day is supposed to be a season of joy. But all those plans and expectations of joy can turn tougher and more stressful than they sound. Some people can barely muddle through as they deal with grief, trauma, illness, and many other challenges of life.

Sometimes you are forced to spend time with family you rarely see and don't always get along with well. Or maybe you are alone when everyone else is with family. Or you are at work and can't be with those you love. Or you are off from work, with more time to think troubling thoughts.

Even though we can't control the challenges and stresses that come with the holidays, we know that God - Emmanuel - will be with us. And that changes everything. Not all at once, but one step at a time.

Remember that the real Christmas story is not set in a warm and cozy house, tastefully decorated and filled with more gifts than can fit under the tree, however wonderful that all may be. The real Christmas story is set amidst those who know enduring poverty and danger. What more loving witness could you offer than to seek out some holiday opportunity to identify with the poor and downtrodden as God does?

During this Christmas and New Year seasons, I invite you to look at the manger and the Child it holds. "God is in the manger, wealth in poverty, light in darkness, and succor in abandonment." (Dietrich Bonhoeffer) We should feel more alive because of the hope we have in Emmanuel -

God with Us. Lay hold of that abundant life the Child of Bethlehem came to give you that is full of peace, joy, and contentment. "Come to me, all you who are weary and burdened, and I will give you rest" (Matt. 11:28)

Please do not let this holiday season go by without considering the real reason for the season. Please remember the little star that led the shepherds to where precious Baby Jesus was laying in the manger. Celebrate the birth of Christ, our Lord! Jesus is the reason for the season, and the gift he came to bring to us all was the gift of being forgiven, transformed and loved. He came to bring us the gift of salvation for if we only ask Him into our hearts and believe in Him, He will give us the gift of eternal life in Heaven! Oh Glorious One! Wonderful Counselor, Prince of Peace. So let us keep Jesus a priority in this New Year!

I believe that at Christmas and New Year, God makes everything new - including you and me!

God bless you and your loved ones in these holy days!

My Journey

Diane Villano

Bishop Laura Ahrens and Diane Villano

It wasn't quite the forty years the Israelites wandered in the wilderness, but it was certainly more than thirty. That's how long it took me to hear what God had been telling me all along - that I needed to be a member of a church family.

I was raised, baptized, confessed, confirmed and married in the Roman Catholic Church. As an adult, I "religiously" avoided church. I didn't feel comfortable attending because I disagreed with so many of the church's policies and prohibitions. I only darkened the doorstep for funerals, weddings and the occasional Christmas and Easter services. Going to church was an onerous obligation. So, I stopped. And by rejecting one denomination, I rejected all, because, strangely, it felt disloyal to the Catholic Church to attend another.

And then Newtown happened. A deeply troubled man took the lives of his mother and twenty children and six educators at Sandy Hook Elementary School. The country cried. The headlines went global. The emotions ran deep. Trying to make sense of a senseless tragedy, I discussed it with my family, my co-workers, and members of my artist group. But I needed something more - more support, more understanding, more prayer; another type of community to share sorrow and explore ways to heal. I needed a worshipping community.

Ten days after the Sandy Hook shooting, on Christmas Eve, 2012, I attended my first worship service at Christ and The Epiphany. I enjoyed the service; it was close enough to the Catholic Mass so that I could follow the flow and I learned how to juggle the bulletin, the BCP and the Hymnal. Instead of a sermon, Father Stan led a heart-warming discussion with the children in front of the altar about the meaning of Christmas. The songs of the season soared throughout the sanctuary and the church bell was rung. I drove home with grateful tears in my eyes.

I had found a worshipping community.

Attending church was no longer a debt paid for a positive check mark on my eternal permanent record. It became a pleasure and privilege to worship God in prayer and song with those who welcomed me so warmly. To share grief, to offer comfort, to rejoice in the joy of others. I became a member of a worshipping community.

Almost five years later, I decided to make it official. It was my great honor and joy to be received into the Episcopal Church on November 30, 2017 at St. Andrew the Apostle Church in Rocky Hill. When Bishop Laura Ahrens said to me, "Welcome home," I knew I already was.

Thanks to God, who, when I was finally ready to listen, pointed me to Christ and The Epiphany. Thank you to all who welcomed me and made me feel appreciated and treasured. Thank you to all who patiently answered my questions and forgave my mistakes. Thank you to all my brothers and sisters in Christ at Christ and The Epiphany Church.

I am home.

Midnight Run

Kathy Alison

We did not participate with the Midnight Run outreach mission in the month of December since our scheduled Monday fell on Christmas day. We will resume our participation in January.

Just a reminder that anyone wishing to contribute to this mission to help the homeless may do so by donating sandwich crackers, applesauce, or for the cold winter months Chapstick, (2 or 3 pack for $1 at Dollar Tree), gloves, or knit hats.

Pastoral Care

Joyce Aurelius

Please remember the homebound in our community, especially at this season. We can offer communion or a simple social visit if you know anyone who needs or wants it.

Who put the X in Xmas?

Readers Digest-Christmas Trivia
Barbara Coulombe

Turns out the Greeks did. What we English speakers know as the letter X is the same shape as the Greek letter chi, best known for its supporting role in sorority house names as well as in the Greek word for Christ. Modern speakers aren't the first to borrow Jesus's Greek name for a
